“The Science of Attachment”

Using Practical Interpersonal Neurobiology and Evidence-Based Treatment to Reshape the Nervous System and Repair the Hearts of Children (And Adults) with Attachment Difficulties. Will cover:

1. Interpersonal Neurobiology and Practical Neuroscience. Brain functioning and the central nervous system are influenced by the environment, especially the early environment of a developing child. Neuroplasticity, or the ability to change the function and structure of the brain through relationship, allows us to use what Dan Siegel describes as “interpersonal neurobiology” to heal past psychological and attachment wounds.
2. Neural Correlates of Mindfulness Practice..and Why It Matters. Mindfulness is critical in not only the treatment of children with attachment difficulties, but also in adults with attachment problems and caregivers of youths with attachment problems.
3. Helping Children (& Adults) to Look at their own Trauma Through New Eyes. Defense mechanisms, negative and positive coping skills, and key approaches to addressing trauma from a new perspective will be explored.
4. Nutrition and It's Implications for Healing. Will provide an overview of methods for determining nutritional imbalances and ways of addressing these.

Activity for Attachment Kids

"After School Activity for Attachment Disorder Kids & Teens 5-16

Head, Heart & Tails, in cooperation with Alaska Assistance Dogs and Alaska Attachment & Bonding Associates (AABA), will continue its therapeutic service dog training program for kids and teens with their parent or caregiver. This fun program addresses the following core needs: It helps children learn to bond with a parent or caregiver, to regulate emotions, to develop a sense of teamwork, and to experience healthy loving, touching, and hugging. The focus is to help the child or teen develop a better bond with their parent/caregiver as both learn and then teach commands to their dog; usually Golden Retrievers, Standard Poodles or Labrador Retrievers. Teams can train learn and train any of the 65 commands a service dog learns! The win-win aspect of this program is that the parent-child teams help train service dogs for Alaskans with disabilities and become contributing members to their community.

Following a summer break, the program will resume for 5-week sessions, held once a week on Tuesdays from 4:30 – 5:30 pm. The next dates are October 8 and November 12. Class size will be 3 – 4 trainers. A parent or caregiver must attend with their child. There is no cost to the families. Training locations will vary, but all begin at the Home Depot Wasilla, Palmer-Wasilla Hwy. (on the hill).

If you are interested or would like more information, please call Laura at 907-376-0366 or Carole as listed below.

Extreme Family Makeovers

Nancy Thomas has an Extreme Family makeover program, where she comes to your home. Just think you would have one on one time and training with Nancy in your own home environment, this will help Nancy find out what kind difficulties you are having and help you with the problems.

This program is designed to help families to connect and help challenging children (up to 12 years of age) to redirect their paths at home. The focus of this program is to renew, recharge, and empower each parent with effective techniques to decrease their child's aggression and destruction, while increasing love and laughter in their homes. This is achieved through a powerful in-home program with daily skill building and parenting interventions to build the child's trust, honesty, self-control and conscience development. Nancy's program has been developed on over 30 years of success working with violent, defiant, destructive children. These children can learn to be respectful, responsible and fun to be with. The cost is less than an intensive one on one at Nancy's Colorado Ranch. Plus you do not have to buy plane tickets, rent a room, buy food, or rent a car.

The cost and days vary with the size of your family.

Families of four or less: Three day makeover is $4850.

Families of five or six: Four day makeover is $6450.

Families of seven or more: Five day makeover is about $8050.

Please contact Bandy or Shaye (1-970-984-2222) for available dates and registration. Leave a message and they will call you back.
